So nigh is God to Man,
When Duty whispers low, 'Thou must!'
The Youth replies, 'I can!'"

Foreword

As we have toured the campus of Lancaster High, we have seen many interesting things.

We've seen teachers who felt it was important to know about the past, the present, and the future because they believe it gives perspective.

We've seen young, eager faces trying to find out what education is all about and what they want to do with their lives.

We've seen sports events where sometimes we came home happy and sometimes sad.

We've liked what we've seen and now invite you to take your own private tour. We think you'll like what you see.

Dedication

For her love of Lancaster High School, and her loyalty to our school, its students, and its ideals,

For the priceless gifts of knowledge and inspiration which she has bestowed upon us,

For her time and thoughtfulness given us so freely as teacher and friend,

We, the Yearbook Staff, proudly and most earnestly dedicate this, the 1966 TIGER TALES, to

Mrs. Sue Wilson

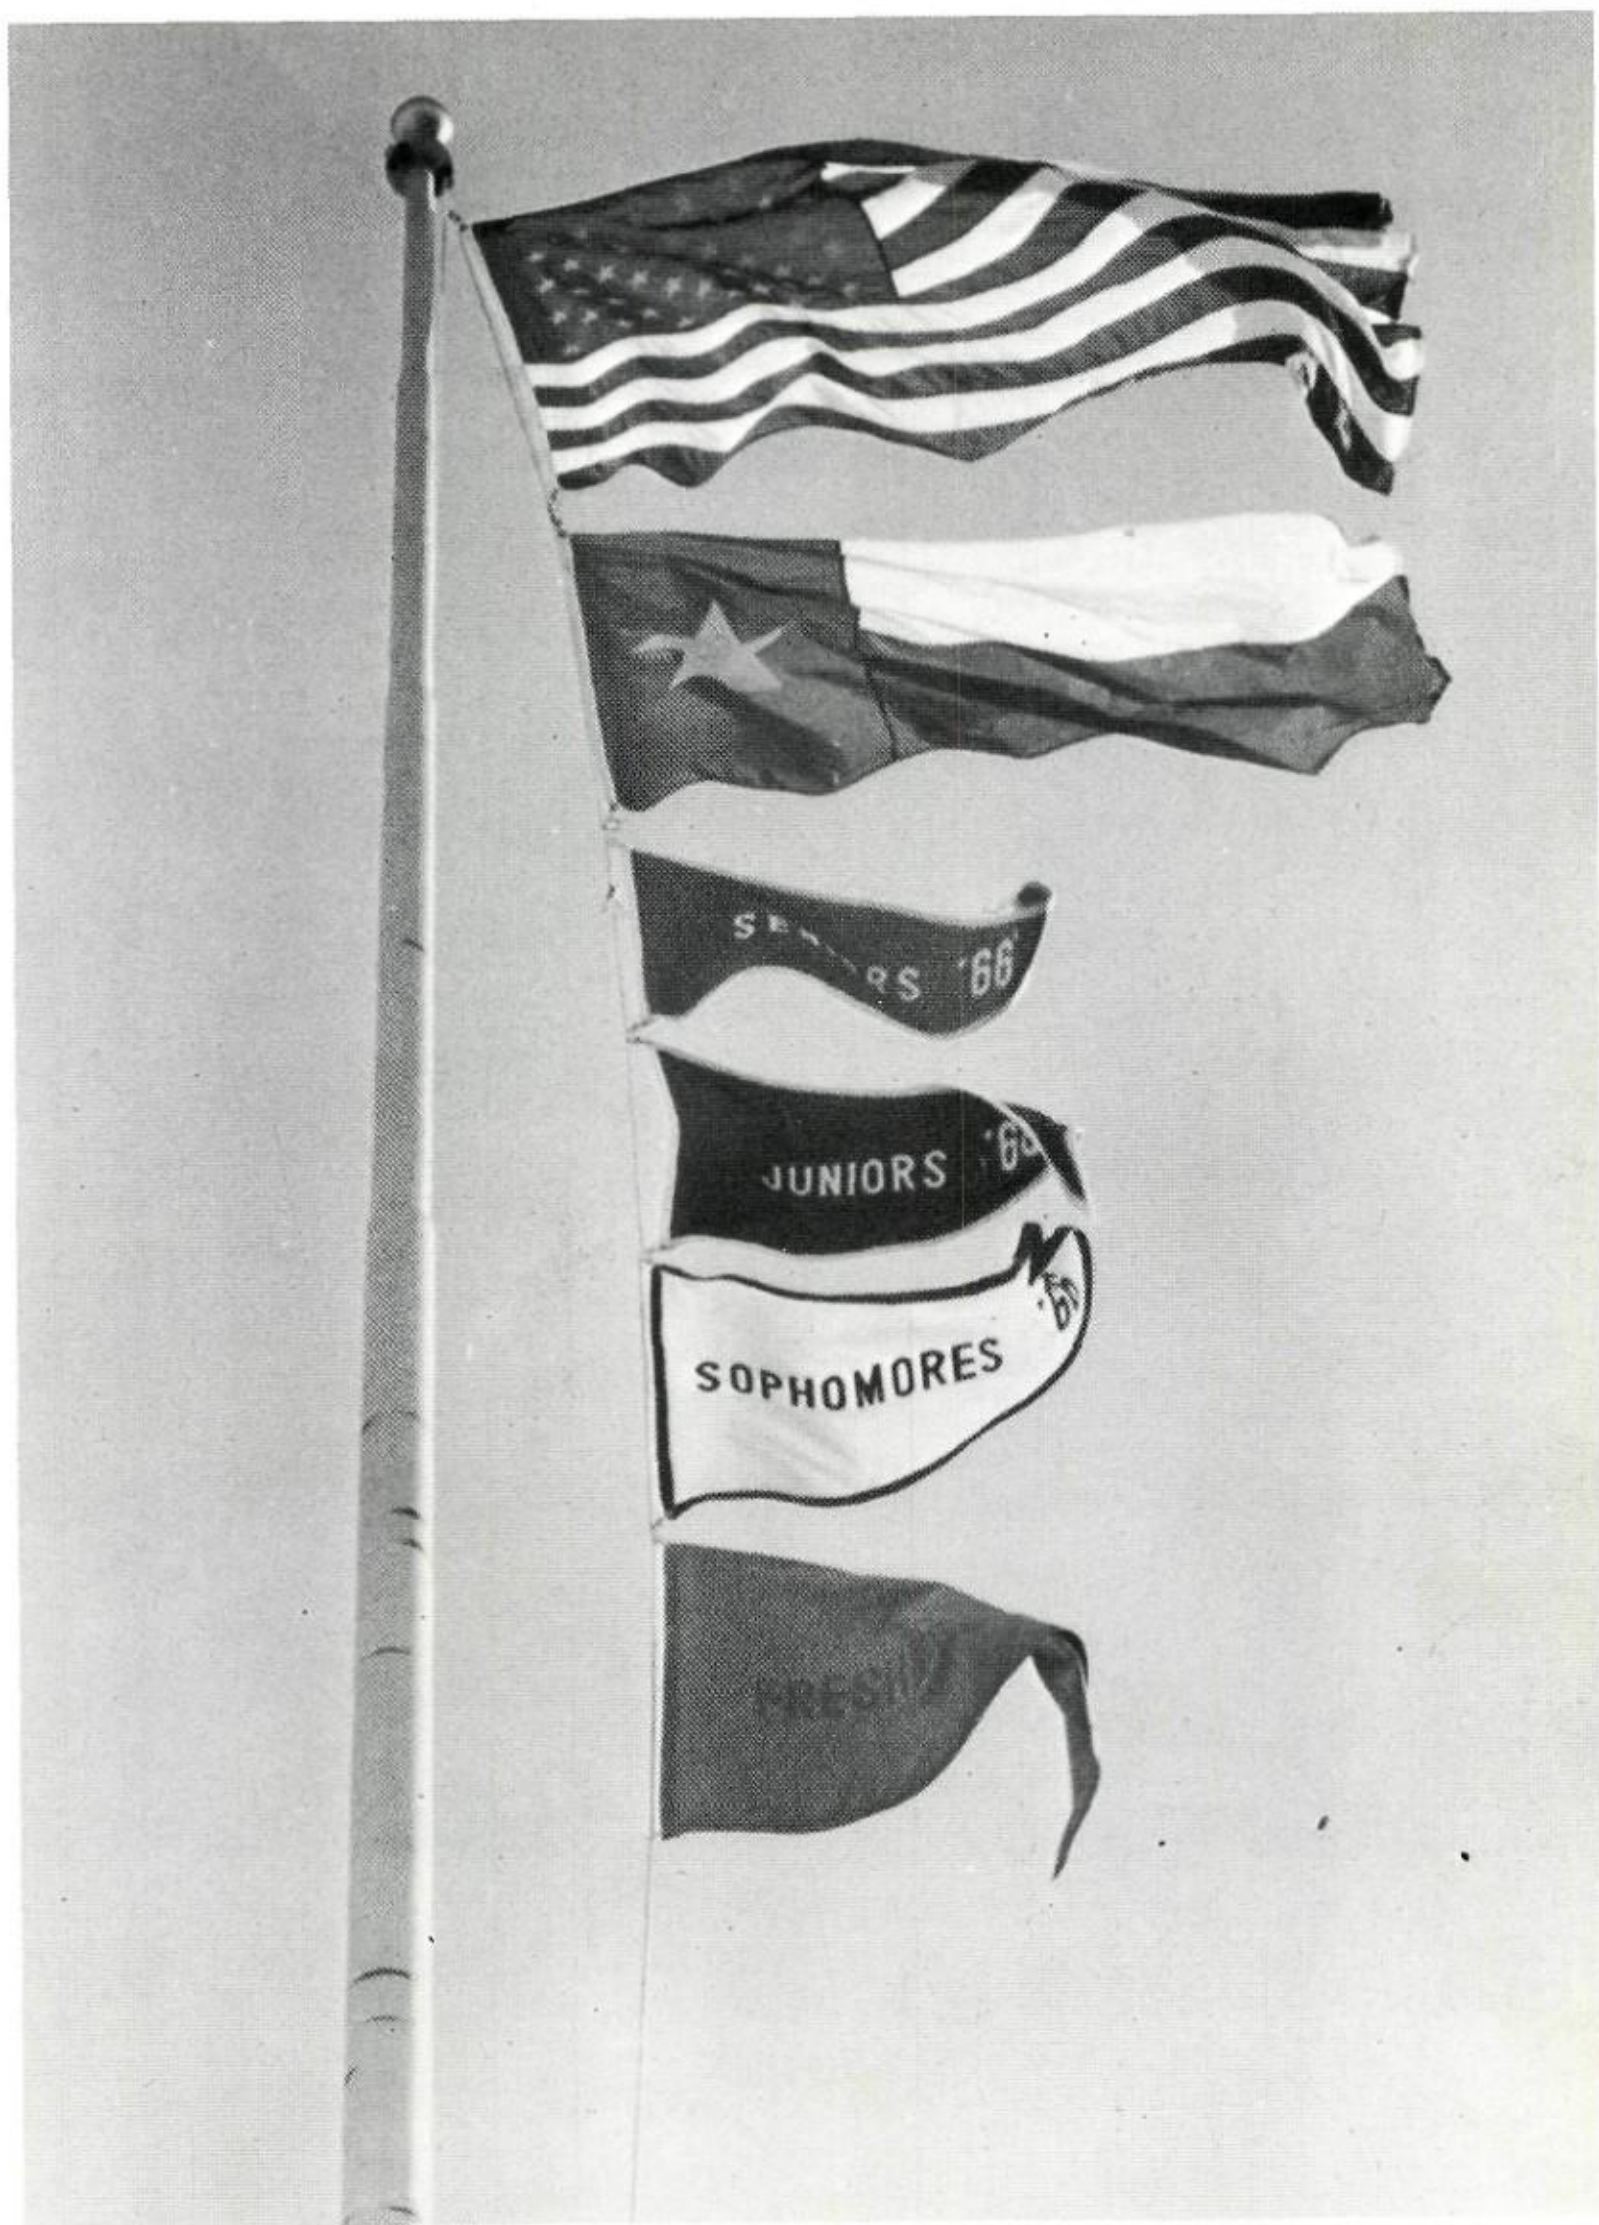

Mrs. Wilson's Laboratory: Most any period, most any day.

High School

MR. J. E. DAWSON, Superintendent

To the Class of 1966:

Congratulations to you collectively and individually upon completion of your high school education! NOW WHAT?

In contemplating your future life, these things come to mind: Your average age should now be eighteen years. You can look forward to a normal life span of some fifty-two more years. It will be 2018 A.D. when you reach your seventieth birthday. What will the world be like then? How many of you will have become world travellers or even space travellers? What kind of education will you have need of, then?

If the next fifty years bring as much change as the past fifty, will you be able to keep pace educationally, socially and spiritually? If the contemplated revolutionary changes increase many-fold in all fields of human experiences, what then?

I think the answers must lie in the field of faith and an all-out intensive preparation for "What-ere-Betide". You must devote the next few years of your young lives to this end.

There are still unchangeable bedrock foundations upon which we must anchor our lives: Faith in God, Faith in the right, and Faith in a Divine Purpose for our lives.

Bon Voyage!

Principal

This TIGER TALES of '66 is a small but important recording of the trials, tribulations, labors and laughter of the students of Lancaster High School. I congratulate the staff for their arrangement of these memories.

To the members of the Class of '66, you could look upon this volume as the final chapter in the book of knowledge and accomplishments, but in reality it is the introduction to a more challenging and exciting series of books that may well require a lifetime of work, sacrifice and study to complete. To all of you, whether you stop at the preface of Volume I or continue throughout the set, my best wishes and prayers for a useful, complimentary and satisfying venture.

My compliments and congratulations to the entire student body and faculty for doing, in most cases, more than was asked required or requested.

What we have done today will be reflected in the eyes of tomorrow. I trust we will always strive to make L.H.S. a better place to work, live, and grow.

Class of 1966---

Congratulations on your achieving the high goal of High School Graduate. You have reached a highly desirable plateau in your life. From this point only your own desire and ambition can limit you in going as high in your vocation as you wish to go.

I wish each of you my very best, and hope that we have furnished and that you have obtained many of the basic tools needed for your life ahead.

MISS ELSIE ROBERTSON – Counselor

To the Graduates of '66 and Other Students of Lancaster High School:

Human beings cannot choose the period of history into which they are born, nor select the particular place and circumstances in which to begin their lives. Each must make the best of his own circumstances in his own period of history.

But it is within the choice of every person to determine some of the factors which enter the fabric of his life. There is a place in life for each individual, but each must decide what he wants this to be . . . and seek it.

No one can have everything to suit himself; each life affects many others. This impact he should never forget, for it helps determine the overall quality of his living. Becoming a man or woman requires more than being twenty-one years old: like everything else, it requires practice, and the set of values and habits each adopts as he practices determines the perspective through which he views the world.

It is my sincere hope that Lancaster High school has helped each of you develop a worthwhile set of values; that your perspective on life distinguishes the worthwhile and lasting from the tawdry and fleeting; that your practice in growing to womanhood or manhood has been profitable to you, and that you are ready to seek your place in the world as an individual who will make the best of every circumstance.

Congratulations on your graduation and may it truly be the Commencement of a happy and successful life, a life useful to you, your family, the nation and the world.

If Lancaster High School can be of assistance to you, we would welcome the opportunity. That God will bless and keep you through the years is my sincere prayer.

Sincerely,

Elsie Robertson

Señor Cardenas speaks at the banquet.

The food was muy bueno (very good)

Junior-Senior Banquet

May 13, 1966

Brookside Inn

Our speakers were all good.

Randy Durrett was the Master of Ceremonies.

Mr. Bean was our guest speaker.

Gaylan Crumley expressed the Seniors' thanks.

The filet mignon was better than even a Kips' hamburger.

There was even enough to fill the bottomless pits.

Kenneth Bill

Then everyone got up and worked off the food.

Senior Day

And the Seniors skip out.

The Sponsors had a riotous time.

Some played volleyball . . .

Some played Huckleberry Finn.

Let's go pick flowers!.

. . . So they did!

 You Seniors

John,
 You are a real great guy.
 I'll always remember
 last year in homeroom.
 Be good - if that is possible.
 Love,
 Mary Beth

To a real meat guy that live known a lot
time we've had a lot of good time together
either go across the river and goof off. May you have all the good stuff you want.

"So nigh is Grandeur to our Dust,
So nigh is God to Man,
When Duty whispers low, 'Thou must!'
The Youth replies, 'I can!'"
